3.Objective

The Objective of this document is to provide guidelines on the various elements included under the “Other Allowances and Reimbursement” policy, the rationale for extending a particular element and outline the associated processes for utilizing these elements.

4.Scope

The Policy will be applicable to all the permanent full-time/ part time Employees of Capgemini.

5.Policy Statement

OAAR is a basket of allowances and reimbursements being offered to assist employees defray special expenses related to their employment and includes tax and non-tax benefits to help employee optimize and plan income tax benefits as applicable under income tax rules.

OAAR is divided into 2 buckets:

1. OAAR 1: The components in this bucket are constant and determined. These allowances are being provided to employees to defray the special expenses incurred by you, in connection with your employment.
2. OAAR 2: All the elements listed are optional i.e., employees could choose to include any of the elements either in the non-taxable or taxable category, subject to the limit of the OAAR amount mentioned in the salary breakup letter. Any unclaimed reimbursement components allocated under OAAR 2 will be paid as taxable income at the end of the financial year if no claims are submitted before the cutoff date communicated by payroll. All non-taxable components (except Meal Coupons and NPS) would be paid through payroll, based on an appropriate claim submitted by employee.

IV. Details of individual elements under OAAR

1. Communication Allowance

Several of our employees are working from home regularly (hybrid) working from home regularly. Employees will be given this allowance to reasonably compensate and defray costs incurred while working remotely or working from home for official purposes, including but not limited to cost towards high speed/ stable internet connections, mobile and landline usage bill & related equipment expenses used for official communication and access to Capgemini's systems. These payments are intended to offset work related communication expenses incurred for the benefit and on behalf of Capgemini. Employees can claim landline, mobile bills and internet bills under this allowance which will provide tax benefits.

Please note that any reimbursement directly claimed by an employee from the company cannot be considered under this allowance. If employee is claiming communication allowance:

- For mobile, landline and internet usage the annual limits are 36,000 i.e., 12,000 each.
- Any claim reimbursed via the organization reduces the eligibility proportionally.

E.g.- If an employee claims mobile bill, then total tax benefits limit will be revised to 24,000 and if claims are made for both mobile and internet then the limit will be revised to 12,000.

Document Requirements:

- The claim can include 1 landline, 1 mobile phone, 1 internet connection in the employee's name, supported by appropriate bills.
- For pre-paid telephone bills, along with the receipt / bill copy from the service provider, please also share the payment proof (bank statement / wallet payment, etc.) by highlighting the transaction from the statement before availing the tax benefit.
- Payout would be limited to maximum of 80% of the bill amount or the limit for the grade specified under this policy.
 - Mobile connection must be under the name of employee. Broadband and landline can be in the name of employee, spouse, parents, or landlord, provided it is installed at the address of the employee as per Capgemini's records and used for official purposes.
- If cell phone is provided by Capgemini, then employee can claim reimbursement for only 1 landline and 1 internet connection up to Rs. 24,000 per annum as upper limit.

For more details, refer FAQ document on Communication allowance

2. Home Office Allowance

Several of our employees are working from home regularly (Hybrid). This allowance is paid to reasonably defray the special expenses incurred by employees, by the nature of their job, for expenses related to home office setup and utility cost. This can include but not limited to white goods, incremental electricity usage / power backup / invertors WIFI router, desk, modems, external monitor, mouse, extendable keypad, UPS for routers and desktops, table, and chair etc. This payment is made to ensure defrayal of expenses directly or indirectly being incurred by employees due to performance of Capgemini's work from their home under remote/hybrid work arrangements or where employees work under flexible arrangements such that they may co-ordinate/work regularly from home across global time zones as part of their job. However, the employees will not get tax benefits in respect of these expenses and these elements are completely taxable.

3. Conveyance Allowance

This allowance is payable to employees to compensate for and defray regular travel expense incurred for commuting to and from employee's residence to workplace. This may include varied costs relating to use of public transport, use / operation / maintenance of vehicles that are used for office commute, utilization of ride hailing services, or other modes of transport. Conveyance allowance is intended to offset or defray regular employment related travel requirements.

Important points to note:

- Only employees who are orthopedically challenged or differently abled with mobility issues of lower extremities only (as defined under the Indian tax law) can avail tax exemption on conveyance allowance.
- Employees who opt for the Capgemini's bus facility, the recovery will happen from the Conveyance Allowance.

Maximum allowance provided as per grade given in Table 1

Document Requirements:

Employees need to furnish the disability certificate in the portal to avail the tax exemption. 5.Allowance under OAAR

I. Communication Allowance

7. Who can claim this allowance?

Employees will be given this allowance in lieu of costs incurred while working remotely, including mobile, landline and broadband.

8. What can be claimed under this Allowance?

Non-Taxable: Employees can claim landline, mobile bills and internet bills under this allowance which will provide tax benefits.

Taxable: Employees are also paid towards their electricity bill, water bill, WIFI router, desk, modems, external monitor, mouse, extendable keypad, routers, UPS for routers, UPS for desktops, headphones, external mic for calls, purchase of work stations - Table or chair. These elements are completely taxable and not tax free.

Employees who claim internet reimbursement cannot claim tax benefit on the same bill.

9. Will the whole bill be reimbursed?

Payout would be limited to maximum of 80% of the bill amount or the limit for the grade specified under this policy.

10. What are the limits for claiming Mobile, Landline and Internet Allowance?

- For mobile, landline and internet usage the annual limits are 36,000 i.e. 12,000 each.
- Any claim reimbursed via the organization reduces the eligibility proportionally.
Eg- If an employee claims mobile bill, then total tax benefits limit will be revised to 24,000 and claims are done for both mobile and internet then the limit will be revised to 12,000.

11. Should the broadband, mobile connection and landline be in the employee's name?

Mobile connection must be under the name of employee. Broadband and landline can be in the name of employee, spouse, parents, or landlord, provided it is installed at the address of the employee as per Capgemini's records.

II. Conveyance Allowance

* All EV's will always be <=1600 CC limit

The allowance can be reimbursed towards maintenance, fuel & insurance cost of the vehicle and will be non-taxable.

37. What is the maximum reimbursement for a driver?

A further amount of INR 3000 per month can be reimbursed towards driver allowance and will be non-taxable.

38. How can I apply for Self-Owned Car or where should I submit my car documents?

You must upload car registration book (RC book) and Insurance on the Payroll portal along with the bills copy, at the time of claiming reimbursements. Uploading RC book copy is one-time activity and should be done while uploading bills for first time in the financial year. For Electric vehicle additional declaration is to be submitted.

39. Can an employee availing company paid bus facility or conveyance allowance avail this allowance?

Employees who are availing the company bus/ cab facility or conveyance allowance cannot opt for vehicle reimbursement.

40. Why is my driver's salary claim not processed?

Possible reasons are:

1. It's important to mention the month for which the driver's salary has been paid.
2. Driver should sign the receipt.
3. Driver's license is mandatory.
4. For Self-Owned Car claims driver's salary paid per month is only INR 3000.
5. If driver salary amount is more than INR 5000 then revenue stamp should be there on receipt (except in Karnataka state).
6. Claim amount is more than eligible amount.

No, it is not considered.

VI. National Pension System

42. Who is eligible for NPS?

Permanent Employees across all grades can opt to contribute to NPS.

43. How much can I contribute to NPS?

Employer's Contribution Investment to NPS based on tax regime opted by the employee in the relevant financial year is exempted from income tax, with a maximum capping of 7,50,000 inclusive of employer PF contribution. NPS will be adjusted from your OAAR 2 (if part of Pay Letter) or Personal Allowance.

You can read the NPS guidebook for more information.

VII. Mobile Handset Reimbursement

44. Whose name should be on the invoice for the mobile handset?

The invoice should be in the name of the company with C/O of the employee's name and address of company as mentioned in annexure 1 for the respective location. This is mandatory for reimbursement claim processing.

Important Note: If the Invoice is in the name of the Employee, C/o. Company Name and address, then the claim will be rejected.

45. How is the 24-month period for reimbursement calculated?

The 24-month period is counted from the invoice date of the last claim. The tax benefit will be provided in the same financial year when the asset was purchased.

46. What details must be included on the invoice?

The invoice should be in name of the company with C/O - employee name and address of the company as mentioned in the annexure 1 including seller details such as name, address and contact information with a clear mention of date of invoice and invoice number.

Please note : Capgemini GST number is not mandatory in case of Mobile reimbursement.

47. What type of invoice is required for reimbursement?

A valid tax invoice (with the GST number of the seller) should be submitted to the employer.

48. What is the last date to submit the bill?

The bill should be submitted within 3 months from the date of purchase. Please note if you are purchasing in Jan/Feb ensure to submit the bill by first week of March. The cutoff date for March will be communicated by the payroll team separately.

49. I have allocated the OAAR amount in October but made the purchase in mid-March?

No tax benefit will be provided on the invoices dated after the last date for submitting claims towards reimbursements, as communicated by payroll team every year. Purchases made after this date will not be eligible for reimbursement in either the current or the subsequent financial year.

50. What if the handset is purchased online?

If the handset is purchased using an online platform, the invoice should be in the name of the company with C/O of employee name and address of the company as mentioned in annexure 1 for your respective location, along with a clear mention of the date of invoice and invoice number.

51. I have purchased the mobile in April/May 2025. Can I claim it now?

No. Mobile purchased on or after August 01, 2025, will be considered for reimbursement.

52. What proof of payment is required for mobile reimbursement?

Debit/Credit card slip or Bank Statement for online payments should be attached.

53. I have already claimed reimbursement of Mobile handset which I purchased in September 2025. In December 2025, I bought a new mobile handset which is of a higher value. Can I replace the old bill with the new one and claim reimbursement?

No, Once the mobile handset bill is submitted and approved, it cannot be cancelled or revoked for new submission.

54. I had allocated only INR 30,000.00 towards Mobile Handset in OAAR2. I am submitting a bill for INR 60,000.00. Will I get the reimbursement for the whole amount subject to my annual entitlement?

No. In this case, since you have declared only INR 30,000 per annum, the reimbursement will be restricted to INR 30,000 per annum. However, before submitting the bills, you can increase the allocation and then submit the bill. Note that, the window opens for OAAR changes on a quarterly basis (April/May, July, October and January). The increase will be applicable from the month of declaration onwards and going forward.

55. I had purchased the Mobile handset on 10 Sep 2025 and claimed reimbursement in Oct 2025. When will i be eligible for next purchase / Payout?

Since you have purchased the Mobile handset on 10 Sep 2025, the next purchase should be made only after 10 Sep 2027 (Claim once in 2 years). You can allocate the amount as part of OAAR Declaration in April 2027, purchase a New Mobile handset after 10 Sep 2027 and then claim the reimbursement within 3 months from the date of Purchase.

56. I have purchased a Refurbished Mobile handset. Am I eligible to claim the benefit?

No, you can purchase and claim only for new Mobile handset.

57. While making an online purchase for mobile, the address field has a character limit. Can I shorten the address mentioned in Annexure 1?

Yes, you can abbreviate the address to fit within the character limit. However, please ensure that the full company name and GST number are entered correctly.

58. Is it Mandatory to allocate the entire amount as per my grade entitlement or can we allocate a lower amount towards Mobile reimbursement.

Yes. You can allocate only the required amount as part of the declaration. It's not mandatory that you need to declare the entire amount as per your entitlement.

For Example, if your annual entitlement as per your Grade is Rs.90,000 per annum and you would like to purchase a Mobile handset worth Rs.40,000, you can allocate only Rs.40,000. The monthly allocation would be Rs.40,000 divided by remaining months in the FY. The un-allocated amount of Rs.50,000 will be paid under Personal Allowance every month.

59. How does the OAAR declaration & allocation works?

Employees should allocate only the amount they plan to utilize under OAAR during the declaration process. The allocated amount will be withheld from your monthly Personal Allowance. The maximum amount that can be allocated would be your annual entitlement as per Grade limit or the available balance in your Personal Allowance.

- Annual Allocation: Declarations for Mobile Handset will be on an annual basis, unlike other OAAR components which follow a monthly allocation.
- Monthly Allocation: The allocated annual amount will be proportionately adjusted from your monthly personal allowance over the remaining months of the financial year.
- Reimbursements:
 - Reimbursements will be processed upon submission of valid bills/invoices and will be paid monthly on an accrual basis.
 - Any unclaimed balance amount will be paid as a taxable allowance along with the March payroll.

The table below presents a case study detailing the OAAR Declaration, Submission, and Reimbursement process.

I. OAAR Declaration

- If you declare an amount of ₹60,000 per annum in the month of August, the monthly entitlement will be ₹7,500 for the period August to March. Rs.60k/8 Months = Rs.7,500 pm
- If you declare an amount of ₹60,000 per annum in the month of October, the monthly entitlement will be ₹10,000 for the period October to March. Rs.60k/6 Months = Rs.10,000 pm

VIII. Laptop Reimbursement

60. Whose name should be on the invoice for the laptop?

Invoice should be in the name of the company followed by C/O - name of the employee, address of the company along with GST number as mentioned in annexure 1 at the end of the OAAR Policy document.

Important Note: Invoice should have Company name as Primary Buyer followed by Employee Name, Company Address and GSTIN as per annexure 1.

61. What details must be included on the invoice?

The invoice should clearly mention the date of the invoice and invoice number. It should also include vendor/seller details such as name, address, contact information, GST number, and GST amount.

62. Are accessories covered under the laptop reimbursement?

No accessories will be covered, except for a mouse or external keyboard, provided they are purchased along with the laptop/Tablet/iPad and the cost is included in the invoice issued for the laptop/Tablet/iPad.

63. What proof of payment is required for laptop reimbursement?

Debit/Credit card slip or Bank Statement for online payments should be attached.

64. Where can I find the GST number of company?

There is annexure 1 present at the end of the policy document you can refer to that.

65. Where can I find my company name?

Log in to Success Factors >> Employee Information >> Organization information and Job information.

66. What is the last date to submit the bill?

The bill should be submitted within 3 months from the date of purchase. Please note if you are purchasing in Jan/Feb ensure to submit the bill by first week of March. The cutoff date for March will be communicated by the finance team separately.

67. I have allocated the OAAR amount in October but made the purchase in mid-March?

No tax benefit will be provided on the invoices dated after the last date for submitting claims towards reimbursements, as communicated by finance team every year. Purchases made after this date will not be eligible for reimbursement in either the current or the subsequent financial year.

68. I have already claimed reimbursement of laptop handset which I purchased in September 2025. In December 2025, I bought a new laptop handset which is of a higher value. Can I replace the old bill with the new one and claim reimbursement?

No. Once the laptop bill is submitted and approved, it cannot be cancelled or revoked for new submission.

69. I had allocated only INR 30,000.00 towards laptop in OAAR2. I am submitting a bill for INR 60,000.00. Will I get the reimbursement for the whole amount subject to my annual entitlement?

No. In this case, since you have declared only INR 30,000 per annum, the reimbursement will be restricted to INR 30,000 per annum. However, before submitting the bills, you can increase the allocation and then submit the bill. Note that, the window opens for OAAR changes on a quarterly basis (April/May, July, October and January). The increase will be applicable from the month of declaration onwards and going forward.

70. I had purchased the laptop on 10 Sep 2025 and claimed reimbursement in Oct 2025. When will i be eligible for next purchase / Payout?

Since you have purchased the laptop handset on 10 Sep 2025, the next purchase should be made only after 10 Sep 2028 (Claim once in 3 years).

You can allocate the amount as part of OAAR Declaration in April 2028, purchase a new laptop after 10 Sep 2028 and then claim the reimbursement within 3 months from the date of Purchase.

71. What will happen in case of theft/accident?

The incident has to be immediately reported to organization. The asset will be treated as sold to employee and perquisite will be charged to employee as per the IT rules depending on the period of the asset usage.

72. Can I still purchase laptop within 3 years if I lost the previous one?

For three years you cannot purchase the laptop as lock in-period is still valid.

73. What happens if my laptop is hacked or there is any unauthorized usage?

In the event of a security breach or hacking incident, the employee will be held accountable for any consequences arising from unauthorized access or misuse. It is the employee's responsibility to ensure proper security measures are in place and to report any such incidents to the organization immediately.

74. I have not done any OAAR allocation towards Laptop. Can I claim reimbursement.

No, for availing the benefit of Laptop, you need to first allocate the amount under OAAR 2 when the window opens (Quarterly) and then submit the claim for Reimbursement

75. Perquisite Computation if I leave within 2-3 months of availing the benefit. I have allocated an amount of Rs.10,000 per month (Rs.80,000 per annum) towards purchase of Laptop. I have submitted the bills for Rs.80,000 and the same got approved. I am getting reimbursement of INR 10,000 per month. I have received Rs.40,000 so far as reimbursement and today is my last working day. What would be my perquisite computation on exit within 1 year of date of purchase.

The approved amount on submission of bills is Rs.80,000. However, the reimbursement paid so far is only Rs.40,000. In this scenario, the perquisite computation will be only the actual reimbursement made so far (Rs.40,000) and not the entire approved amount of Rs.80,000.

76. The Company name in SF is having a short name. What should be the Name of the company in the Invoices.

Please use the name as per annexure 1

i. Capgemini Technology Services India Limited

ii. Capgemini IT Solutions India Private Limited

Note: 8520 and 1986 are Company codes used for Internal references only.

77. I have declared an amount of INR 80,000 per annum and submitted bills for INR 60,000. 60,000 INR were approved and have availed complete amount during the year. What is the tax benefit that I have received in this process.

Tax benefit will be on the approved amount and reimbursement received during the year. The benefit received will be on the applicable tax slab which you are falling under.

For Example: You are in 20% tax slab. The amount reimbursed is INR 60,000. The tax benefit in this case is INR 12,000.00 (INR 60,000*20% = INR 12,000). If you are in 30% tax slab, then the tax benefit is INR 18,000. Education Cess would be applicable.

78. After completion of 2 / 3 years / FNF, will the Asset be transferred back to the Employee name?

Post completion of the period, Employee is deemed to be the Owner of the Asset

79. What happens in the case of retirement, death, or termination with respect to the laptop? How should the perquisite be computed?

Regular perquisite calculations will apply in all exit scenarios, including voluntary exit, retirement, death, and termination.

80. I have purchased a laptop for Rs.60,000. With respect to payments, I have paid Rs.20,000 as Cash and remaining amount via Credit/Debit Card. What is the actual amount that I am eligible for claiming the tax benefit. Is it the entire amount of Rs.60,000 (Invoice amount) or Rs.40,000 which is the Online payment amount.

If the payment is a mixture of both Cash and Card payments, then both the payment details need to be clearly mentioned in the Invoice. The tax benefit would be on the full payment.

81. I declared a mobile handset under the OAAR allocation in August and submitted the invoice, which has been approved. I have been receiving the reimbursement on a monthly basis. However, I have submitted my resignation, and my last working day is 21st October 2025. Will I be eligible to receive the full reimbursement for the mobile handset for which I submitted the invoice?

Reimbursement is paid on a monthly accrual basis. If an employee resigns and their last working day falls in the middle of the financial year, the reimbursement payable will be restricted up to the last working day.

Example: An amount of ₹80,000 per annum was declared in August 2025, which translates to ₹10,000 per month (Aug 25 – Mar 26). The employee submits an invoice for ₹80,000 in August, and it is approved. The employee receives ₹10,000 per month as reimbursement. Since the employee's last working day is 20th October 2025, the reimbursement will be calculated on a pro-rata basis up to that date. The reimbursable amount will be ₹26,666 (for August, September, and a partial period in October).

82. How does the allocation & reimbursement works?

Employees should allocate only the amount they plan to utilize under OAAR during the declaration process. The allocated amount will be withheld from your monthly Personal Allowance. The maximum amount that can be allocated would be your annual entitlement as per Grade limit or the available balance in your Personal Allowance.

- Annual Allocation: Declarations for Laptop will be on an annual basis, unlike other OAAR components which follow a monthly allocation.
- Monthly Allocation: The allocated annual amount will be proportionately adjusted from your monthly personal allowance over the remaining months of the financial year.
- Reimbursements:
 - Reimbursements will be processed upon submission of valid bills/invoices and will be paid monthly on an accrual basis.
 - Any unclaimed balance amount will be paid as a taxable allowance along with the March payroll.

The table below presents a case study detailing the OAAR Declaration, Submission, and Reimbursement process.

I. OAAR Declaration

6.Claim Process

83. How do you claim OAAR?

Employees can claim OAAR from below path by logging on to Payroll (HGS) portal.

- Logon to Portal.
- Select OAAR Claim option.
- Select Claim Type. Selected option will be highlighted.
- Click on Raise Claim.
- Provide all required details.
- Click on Add/Save button.
- Click on Declaration check box.
- Click on Submit.

84. My claim is not yet processed. Why is it so?

Possible reasons are:

- You may have submitted claim after the payroll cutoff date i.e. 15th of the month.
- Claim may be rejected. Visit Payroll (HGS) portal and see OAAR Claim tab for rejection reason.
- In case of further query, raise ticket on HGS portal – QRMS.

85. Why is less amount paid against the claim submitted?

Possible reasons are:

- Partial bills are likely to be rejected. Claim may be rejected. Visit Payroll (HGS) portal and see OAAR Claim tab for rejection reason.
 - Once the bills are rejected employee must re-generate a fresh/new voucher under "OAAR Claim" and then upload all the relevant documents (including any proofs uploaded in the prior voucher) under Image Upload. Payroll will not approve the rejected voucher or rejected voucher cannot be enabled again for uploading the supporting documents.
- Bill is reimbursed on pro-rate basis. Employees need not upload the same bills again.
 - Bills will be restricted to the extent of the monthly eligibility and paid, and remaining bills will get carried forward to the subsequent months for payment. Employee should not resubmit the approved bills again in the next month, system/process will handle this

86. Can employees claim for expenses of previous month in the current month?

Yes, employees can claim for previous month.

87. What will happen to unclaimed reimbursement?

Unclaimed amount will be paid as taxable under heading OAAR in March Payroll.

7. Bills Submission Rules

Rules of Bills submission:

- Employee must generate separate Claim id for separate category of bills. For example: To claim Vehicle bills, generate voucher id under Vehicle option and likewise.
